

Abstract

A carrier selection system and method assesses carriers based on lane-specific factors, such as carrier performance on the lane and carrier capacity to serve the lane.